Applicant's arguments filed 9-14-07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 and 15-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sugiyama et al.(6,313,060) in view of JP-05163342.

Sugiyama et al. discloses preparations of flexible polyurethane foams by mixing and reacting polyols of low-unsaturation and having molecular weights as claimed and prepared using the double metal cyanide catalysts (DMC), and isocyanates under foam forming conditions to form resilient foamed articles (see the entire document).

Sugiyama et al.'s teachings differ from applicants' claims in that it does not particularly require renewable materials as initiators in the making of its DMC catalyzed polyols. However, Sugiyama et al. (see column 8 lines 26-42) is not limited to the specific initiator exemplified, and JP-05163342 discloses DMC catalyzed polyols made from initiators as defined by applicants' claims to be useful in polyurethane preparations (see the abstract, as well as, entire document). Accordingly, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art to have employed the renewable material initiators for DMC catalyzed polyols disclosed by JP-05163342 in the preparations of Sugiyama et al. for the purpose of providing environmentally desirable and operationally acceptable reactive materials in products prepared in order to arrive at the products and processes of applicants' claims with the expectation of success in the absence of a showing of new or unexpected results.

Difference is not seen in the ranges of cyclic fatty acid ester content values of applicants' claims as content of these materials are not evident in the teachings of the prior art. Foams having excellent vibration, compression, and other physical properties would be expected from the combined teachings of the prior art. Accordingly, difference based on the ranges of compression values of applicants' claims is not seen. The recite "low" and "reduced" values referred to by the claims are relative and do not distinguish over the combined teachings of the prior art.

Applicants' arguments have been considered. However, rejection is maintained. Examiner maintains rejection to be properly applied as set forth in the rejection above. Motivation to combine is maintained as proper and has not been rebutted by applicants' assertions to the contrary. The JP-'342 patents disclosure of the use of these polyols in polyurethanes is sufficient to support this reference's applicability as art properly combinable with the primary Sugiyama et al. teaching. Additionally, a factually supported showing of new or unexpected results attributable to the differences in applicants' claims that is commensurate in scope with the scope of applicants' claims has not been made in order to overcome the instant rejection. Assertions of acceptable behaviors and low-emissions do not substitute for a factually supported showing of new or unexpected results attributable to the differences in applicants' claims. Further, differences in the articles formed as claimed in the newly submitted claims are not seen to be evident.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
